

MANY

FOR COUNTABLE NOUNS

Use "many" with plural and countable nouns!

- I've been to FAB-15 many times.
- There are many ways to improve productivity.
- I have so many tasks to finish today.

Try making a sentence of your own about work at Micron!

We use "much" with singular uncountable nouns and in negative sentences!

- I don't have much time today.
- We didn't make much money this year.
- Is there much work left to be done?

Try making a sentence/question of your own about work at Micron!

MUCH

FOR UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

We usually use a "lot of" for positive sentences and uncountable nouns!

- There are a lot of monuments and a lot of historic buildings in Hiroshima.
- She gave me a lot of information.

Try making a sentence/question of your own about work at Micron!

A LOT

FOR UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

OPEN BONUS!

Much, many or a lot?

1) I bought too ... food. We had to throw some of it away.

2) There are too ... cars on the road. More people should use public transport.

3) Haven't they sold ... tickets?

4) Can you hurry up? I don't have ... time.

5) I went shopping and spent .... money.

Hint: A lot

A lot of and lots of are used with both plural count and non-count nouns.

They are normally used in affirmative sentences.

- We met a lot of people when we went out.
- There were lots of different stalls at the market.

Micron English Helpdesk
Mon-Fri
8:30-17:30

Helping you go global at Micron!

<https://english-helpdesk.com/Micron-TMs>